HE old clock on the stairs was drowsy. Its ticks, now lower, now louder, sounded like the breathings of one asleep. Now and then came a distincter tick, which might pass for a little machine-made snore. As striking-time drew near, it roused itself with a quiver and shake. One, two, three, four, five, it rang, in noisy tones, as who should say, Behold, I am wide awake, and have never closed an eye all night. The sounds sped far. Marianne the H cook heard them, rubbed her eyes, and put one foot out of bed. The nurse, Louisa, turned over, and began to dream that she was at a wedding. Perhaps the sun heard too, for he stood up on tip-toe on the edge of the horizon, looked about him, then launched a long yellow ray directly at...
